4th of July fun will last all day

From the parade in the morning, though festivities in the Plaza and cool fun at the pool, to fireworks after sunset, the 4th of July will be one of the community's busiest days despite the heat.

The parade will start at 8 a.m. from the parking lot near Family Dollar/K-5/Pizza Hut and wend its way down the highway to the Plaza area before dispersing. Kord Klinefelter says there are already lots of entries but he will find a spot in the parade for last minute entries. He can be reached through NAPA/Kord's Autocare.

The flag will be raised in the Plaza at 9 a.m. and booths will open and games begin immediately afterwards. Cliff Hunter is promising a lot of games for kids in a day slanted toward family fun.

A few elected officials plan to brave the heat to help constituents celebrate. Supervisor Sharon Bronson, who has celebrated Independence Day in Ajo for over a decade, will be prevented from following her tradition since she will be recovering from surgery.

To help everyone cool off, the community pool at Walker Park will be open on the 4th of July from 1 to 5 p.m., and everyone who brings a can of food to donate to the food pantry gets in free. There will be an inflated pirate ship slide to make kids' fun even cooler.

Firefighters, many of whom will have spent much of the day selling iced tea from their booth in the Plaza, will head towards the slag pile on Well Road to prepare the fireworks display that will start shortly after the sun goes down.

The Ajo/Gibson Volunteer Fire Department is dedicating the opening barrage of fireworks to the brave members of the Granite Mountain Hotshots who lost their lives battling the Yarnell Hill Fire on June 30. The opening salvo will be followed by a moment of silence.

There will also be a variety of

The next day, July 5, the VFW is holding an open house. For more information, check the ads in this issue.

Fireworks can scare pets into running away

With the Fourth of July holiday approaching, the Pima Animal Care Center is offering tips to help owners reconnect with lost pets.

Posting notices around the neighborhood and calling friends are still good ideas, according to PACC, but may be supplemented with other ideas.

File a lost report with PACC in Ajo by calling 387-7502. Go to the center in person to reduce the chances of misidentification. Sometimes a person who finds a dog or cat will hold on to them and just leave contact information at the center for inquiring owners, so ask about that also.

Make sure a pet is licensed. Not only is it the law, it's the easiest way for PACC to find owners of animals that are turned in.

"Every dog that's been lost on the Fourth has been outside," said local kennel owner Debbie Morrow. "Dogs don't get lost if they're inside during the fireworks. And don't wait for the fireworks to start. By the first boom it's already too late."

July the Fourth is not only fireworks day but is really for honoring that time in history when for the first time a nation had a revolution that was not begun by People who were referred to as the have nots who had a revolution to take from the people who had wealthy, but this revolution was from people who had a lot and had a revolution to gain freedom and risked it all to obtain it.

237 years later and with over 600,000 dead in wars to preserve this freedom it is our duty as a nation to pay tribute to our founding Fathers in their great achievement. Thursday we will have a parade in our town honoring this sacred tradition, you can show your support and gratitude to those who have worked so hard to bring you this parade by standing by and giving them a big hand as they pass. The parade starts at 8 am.

There will be lots of games for the children in the park starting after the flag ceremony at 9 am. We hope our food vendors that are participating realize that all the rules and regulations and costs from Pima County prevent many vendors from participating so the responsibility for providing refreshments fall on your shoulders. Vendors who are not selling food can get a space for just $10 from the American Legion.

Watch the parade and come to the park. Watch children enjoy our fourth of July. The veteran organizations of Ajo, the VFW and the American Legion welcome you.

Rose Cameron and Patti Bush are the dynamic duo of the Keeping Kids on Track committee and its latest fundraising effort: the selling of commemorative red bricks. Up to 250 purchased bricks will be placed inside the wood-framed A in front of Dicus Auditorium.

The cutoff date for ordering bricks is the Fourth of July. Cameron and Bush said they hope to place the first order of at least 100 bricks soon so the bricks will be in place by the next Red & White Ajo Reunion.

"The more we order, the cheaper our price per brick, the greater our profits, and shipping from California will then be free," said Cameron. "Hopefully we can order all 250 right away!"

The Keeping Kids on Track committee, made up of volunteer community members, scheduled one fundraiser a month with the goal of raising $12,000 so the high school track program would not have to be sacrificed when a junior high sports program was established at the school last year. At the same time, students were subjected to study hall after school and before sports practice, and weekly grade checks were organized by athletic director Brian English. The idea behind the effort is to help students excel in the classroom as well as on the sports fields.

"Many of our old timers are leaving this earth with a memory of our school's history," said Cameron. "Our students need to know what a wonderful school they are attending. They have no idea what wonderful achievements our students have gone on to do. All of our supporters need to be remembered, therefore the idea of making a booklet explaining who each brick represents was born. We want to know what you accomplished while in school, your honors and activities, and what you did after graduation, even if you were an under-achiever or class clown, or didn't even go to school here. Copies of the booklet will be made available to the public. This brick campaign is our last money-making project for this year." For donation details, Cameron may be contacted at 387-7801 and Bush at 387-6250.

About the art on the front page

This year's 4th of July front page art is by Muffet Rowe. She explained the symbolism behind her work: "I went along the lines of the 4th of July, 1/6, being the day Independence was officially declared and signifying the birth of our nation which would make the USA 237 years old this 4th. In those days, the US was pretty much "out in the desert" from the kingdom of Britain. There were no guarantees of what was to come. That's why I chose an image of the casino in Why (the slot machine) as the focal point. Back in the day, our founding fathers had alienated themselves from Great Britain (the little green man and the space ship). The eagle, the symbol of America, in a Statue of Liberty pose, the snake (don't tread on me), the celebratory stance of some of the innocent animals, the laissez-faire attitude of others, the curiosity of others, the startled countenance of the saguaro (sometimes referred to as an alien effigy). The casino location in Why has a double-entendre also, Border Patrol headquarters (illegal aliens), the Native American casino (independence is won and is celebrated because it can be lost if not attended), the possible extinction of the pygmy owl. The planes in the background symbolize the F-16 fighter plane training that takes place in Gila Bend and over the Barry Goldwater range to keep us free. Freedom in theory is the peaceable ability to express thoughts and ideas, but on the other hand, it has seemed to have created a need for war to exist to obtain it. I chose to include obvious symbols that in the big picture are somewhat hidden from view and require the viewer to think, perhaps, about how all things interact on the larger scale according to the current agendas of the day and their political ramifications. I hope this clarifies my leanings toward a benign and happy picture with much more going on if the symbolism were truly investigated."

Grand reopening of center and dedication of dog park is Thursday

The public is invited to the grand reopening of the renovated Ajo Community Center and the dedication of a new dog park at E.S. "Bud" Walker Park on Thursday, July 4. Tours will be given and there will be entertainment and refreshments.

"All of the staff assigned to the Ajo Community Center are very pleased with the remodel and hope the community will continue to take advantage of the many activities, events, and meetings at the center," said Robert Vaughn of Pima County Natural Resources, Parks & Recreation. "The center feels new and with the addition of the air conditioning is great place to visit and participate in the NRPR programs during the heat of the day. Patriotic quilts from the Ajo Piecemakers were given out at shift change to a number of Pima County Sheriff's Department Ajo District deputies last week. From left are deputies Cody Lewis, Jason Taylor, and Levi Baugus, sergeants Michael Seeley and Zack Rapaich, and deputies Chris Aquino and Alicia Manspeaker.

Part of the Piecemakers' Hugs for Heroes program, patriotic quilts were initially given to active duty and veteran military members, of which many of the deputies are. Quilters felt the deputies are all local heroes and expanded the program to include them. Darlene Gaylin noted that 598 quilts have been given out so far and plans are to furnish all the deputies with quilts. She added that each quilt can take from one day to one week to finish, depending on the design.

Heat Stress Index indicates danger from high temps

The National Weather Service has created a Heat Stress Index to provide precautionary guidelines for heat exposure. Temperatures are recorded as apparent temperatures and include adjustments for humidity and other factors and not those registered on the thermometer.

Caution is recommended when temperatures are between 80° and 89° F. Fatigue is possible with prolonged exposure and physical activity.

Extreme Caution is recommended when temperatures are 90° to 104°F. Sunstroke or heat exhaustion are possible with prolonged exposure or physical activity.

A person is in the danger category when temperatures rise to 105° to 130°s F. Sunstroke or heat exhaustion are likely at these temperatures and heatstroke is possible with prolonged exposure or physical activity.

Extreme danger exists when temperatures are 131° F. or higher. Heatstroke or sunstroke are imminent.

Pima County pushes forward with Ajo landfill fees

Last Tuesday's public meeting on the future of the Ajo landfill, sponsored by the county through its department of environmental quality, was long on questions but also long on civility.

Ursula Kramer, DEQ director, Dave Eaker, DEQ deputy director, and Larry Henk of Tucson Recycling & Waste Services, made presentations and answered questions from the approximately 60 people who attended the meeting in the Bud Walker Park community center.

Kramer briefly reviewed the history of the landfill and the decision recently made by the county to turn over management of all county landfill operations to Henk's company. That decision was made by the board of supervisors last May, and on August 6 the same board will hold a hearing on proposed landfill fees.

Ajo has the county's only no-fee landfill, at a cost to the county estimated by Kramer to be in the neighborhood of $400,000 annually.

In the new proposal, fees will be imposed at the Ajo landfill. The draft proposes a commercial fee of $8 per loose cubic yard, and $12 per compacted cubic yard, with increases in the following years that will bring costs to $12 and $16, respectively, by July 1, 2017.

A residential charge, as well, of $5 per vehicle is sought for imposition beginning September 6, with the charge increasing $1 per year through July 1, 2015.

Kramer noted that staff was looking at some options for Ajo, including a reduced low-income household dumping fee of $2 per entry, and charging by loads insofar as there is no scale at the landfill. She said that there is no current plan to create a transfer station in Ajo, an issue which has created considerable concern in the community regarding development and location.

"The only thing coming before the board at this time is the fee schedule," she said. "There is nothing before the board about a transfer station."

Several audience members expressed doubts about the county's credibility, noting that while County Administrator Chuck Huckelberry had in May noted the accuracy of an Ajo Copper News article that included his view that there would be no change in the fee structure for another year, his staff was now proposing a fee beginning in September. If the transfer station issue is non-existent at this point, asked another audience member, why was it clearly identified and discussed in the contract approved by the county in May?

Kramer reiterated that the transfer station concept was just an idea at this time, and that the mention at an earlier meeting of it being located on the highway department property north of the high school was an off-the-cuff comment. "It was just an example," agreed Henk. Kramer said it was clear that the community would have issues with that site. She added that a number of people expressed interest in the station being located at the present landfill, but noted that expenses for the three-phase power requirements might be prohibitive. Kramer said it was not her job to make decisions about where transfer stations would be placed, but to offer the Board of Supervisors alternatives. "We would want to do something acceptable to the community."

"Transfer stations are all different," said Henk. "I have no preference."

In a letter earlier this week, Huckelberry explained his position and point of view regarding fees.

"...I apologize if I caused confusion or misled anyone regarding the solid waste fee increases for Ajo residents that will come before the Board of Supervisors in August 2013. It was not my intention and if I endorsed any piece of paper to that effect, I certainly did not realize it. Unfortunately, several thousand pieces of paper pass my desk every week.

"My only firm recollection of discussions regarding Solid Waste services in Ajo was that services would simply not be for free."

There were other questions at the Tuesday night meeting:

What will be the impact of these decisions on small businesses, from Bush Rubbage Control to independent contractors working with residential and commercial clients? Discussions with commercial and business contractors are ongoing.

Will asbestos be accepted at the landfill? No.

With the imposition of fees, more illegal dumping in the desert is anticipated – does the county have a plan to deal with that? The county is concerned, but has not seen evidence of much illegal dumping in Ajo. When fee changes happened at Ryan Park Airfield, there was little increase in wildcat dumping. If and when fees go into effect, the county will increase inspections in Ajo for some period of time.

Is an environmental study required? One is not needed until a decision is made to create a transfer station.

Since the hearing in August is in Tucson, would it be possible to provide a Skype connection for long-distance participation? The county will look into it. (The county did, but in an e-mail earlier this week responded it was not possible.)

In addition to the presentations and questions-and-answers period, five people entered comments for the record:

- Walt Puciata expressed his concerns about the potential location of a transfer station adjacent to a residential area. He also noted that presentations, hearings, and decisions were being made during a period of time when a large number of Ajo residents are gone for the summer.
- Alan Dunstan objected to a single commercial rate proposal which lumps small haulers with larger businesses. He suggested a second category for smaller, non-residential haulers, and a second location for green waste which could be recycled.
- Tina West urged community members to send comments to the Clerk of the Board, and to ask that comments be included in their entirety. (See below for contact information.)
- Ron Whitley echoed Dunstan's proposal for separate, "reasonable" fees for landscapers.

Jose Castillo asked that the county do a better job in researching the facts and impact of suggestions before making them.

The proposed ordinances are available for review at the PDEQ office, through the Pima County website at www.pima.gov, and on the PDEQ website at www.pima.gov/deq online. For additional information, call Sarah Walters at 520-724-7400.

Comments pertaining to the proposed solid waste ordinances may be submitted at the public meetings; in writing to PDEQ, Attn: Sarah Walters, 33 N Stone Ave., Suite 700, Tucson, AZ 85701; or via e-mail to sarah.walters@pima.gov. Written comments on the proposed ordinances will be accepted by PDEQ until 5 p.m. on July 19.

Written comments can also be submitted to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors until the August 6 board hearing to COB_Mail@pima. gov or mailed to 130 W. Congress St., 5th Floor, Tucson, AZ 85701. Comments sent to the clerk of the board will be given to all five county supervisors.

Hook a Kid on Golf had yet another good year By Robert Sorrels

This year's Hook a Kid on Golf clinic was held at the Ajo Community Golf Course June 17-20. Offered by the Pima County Natural Resources, Parks, and Recreation, the program involves kids ages 8 to 13 in a week of golfing. The clinic teaches golf fundamentals including equipment use, shot selection, etiquette, and care for the course.

If a kid completes the five-day program and passes a written test covering golf fundamentals, they receive a free set of golf clubs. The cost of the equipment is covered by donations from local businesses and is matched by the United States Golf Association, the sponsor of the US Open.

AHS golf co-coach Brad Harvey praised the Hook a Kid program. "At least three of our varsity started with Hook a Kid. It gave them a basic grounding in the sport and those who stay with it often end up playing in high school. One of the biggest things it does is provide golf clubs for kids that likely couldn't have afforded them. That removes a major barrier to learning the sport."

The goal of Hook A Kid is to give kids the opportunity to begin a lifelong sport. In addition to golf there are presentations on drug awareness and prevention and the care of a golf course. Lucila Malvido of PCNRPR is the program coordinator. Mo Landry, Eric Krznarich, José Arancón, Dolf Uylman, and AHS star Jesús Mariscal coached the young golfers.

Parents interested in enrolling their child in next year's clinic should contact Malvido at 387-6641.
